

Diary

April 28, 2024:

By way of apology? explanation? equivocation? I say to you, I lag on putting new stuff on my website just now, because I'm practicing songs to get ready to record more of them for my website, because I'm working on more essays, poems and other stuff for my website, because I'm involved with spring, being outdoors more and letting the inside stuff, like working on my website, slide more of the time.

But I recycle material from my archives to the home page in an effort to keep new stuff available to visitors, and I will get back to putting more new entries on the home page, I think, promise, hope. (Who can tell for sure what tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow will bring?)