

I Dreamed We Danced

I Dreamed we met again
me and you,
In South America,
way down there in Peru,
beneath the golden moon danced together in clean sand on ocean's beach
in hot sunshine
stars spread out
across the clean blue sky.

Steep rock bluffs
reached toward clear blue sky and wild birds flew above us and around us, pelicans, geese ducks, cormorants, gulls eagles, hawks, small birds of song
and grace
and dolphins and fish swam close to shore in moving sea and saw birds and each other and animals
and danced with you and me beneath the moon
beneath the hot, golden sun in the deep blue sea.

We swam together
in the clean river
that entered
the deep blue sea

you and me
and fish and dolphins
and birds, an otter
coyote stopped and danced with us and ran on by.

We climbed dark bluffs,
danced together
in forest

growing to the clean blue sky.

Trees danced with us to melodies rustled leaves in harmony Flowers of a thousand colors danced in sunshine
rested in calmness
of silver moonlight
when we slept together
on the soft mountain grass

Soft morning sunlight lit millions of drops of dew prised to rainbow colors and waited for us to rise with rising sun

and dance
and dance again.
